ALLEGED SHARP PRACTICES IN COTTON TRADE FALSE LABELLING DENOUNCED STRONG RESOLUTION AT WORLD CONGRESS

Rome, To-day.
A resolution affecting the future attitude of world cotton-spinners towards the United States was considered yesterday by the special resolutions committee of the International Cotton Congress.

It is known that some of the delegates favour a strong resolution denouncing the alleged false labelling practices of American cotton exporters. The resolution will have the effect of an ultimatum, that if the practice continues the members of the Congress will boycott American cotton.

It is anticipated that such drastic action will be modified when the resolution is submitted to Congress today. Yesterday's session was devoted to the discussion of the Egyptian cotton situation, with suggestions for improvements in the varieties produced and the methods of handling in a raw state, and for eliminating humidity. The length of the discussion in that connection is regarded as indicating the increased importance which Egypt commands in the world's cotton market.—Reuter.

YUNNANFU ANXIETY DISCOUNTED

FOUR GOVT. REGIMENTS DEFEND CAPITAL

RED OBJECTIVE STATED TO BE OCCUPATION OF KWEICHOW

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, To-day.

Press reports stating that the Communists are close to Yunnanfu were discounted here yesterday by liaison officers of the Yunnan and Nanking troops in Kweichow. They stated that Yunnanfu is now well garrisoned by over four regiments and that the Reds are at Ma Lung, about 40 miles east of Yunnanfu.

A vernacular press dispatch from Yunnanfu, received here on Thursday night, stated that the Reds were in the vicinity of Chin Yick near Ma Lung and that they were being enveloped by the Government forces. One Communist political director was reported killed on Thursday as a result of an aerial bombardment.

Competent military observers here believe that the occupation of Szechuen is the real objective of the Communists now in Yunnan. There is a unit of about 15,000 Reds in Northern Szechuen, and those in Yunnan are attempting to join them, they consider.

The Yunnan Reds are also attempting to enter Sikang in order to make contact with Soviet Russia. General Chiang Kai-shek is aware of this move and has ordered General Liu Wen-hui in Szechuen to prevent them from entering Sikang in the west of Szechuen.

Dutch Representations To Berlin

The Hague, To-day.

The Government has made representations to Berlin asking for the return of the German refugee sculptor Gutzeit, who is alleged to have been kidnapped at Hengelo by agents of the German secret police and taken across the frontier with the assistance of a Dutch spy, who was afterwards arrested.

It is alleged that a confession of the kidnapping was made to the Dutch Prosecutor at Almelo by a German policeman named Kotschitz, who was arrested in Holland.—Reuter.

Should the Council not issue recommendations or fail to reach an unanimous decision the obligation of assistance will nevertheless apply.

FILIPINOS URGED TO GIVE UP EFFORTS FOR INDEPENDENCE

PESSIMISTIC OUTLOOK OF COMMISSIONER

UNFAVOURABLE MINORITY REPORT TO UNITED STATES SENATE

Washington, To-day.

The uprising in the Philippines little surprised the predictions made freely some time ago by those familiar with the situation, that such trouble might be expected. Commissioner Guevara said that the troubles "may even jeopardise the life of the commonwealth and may even be taken by the world as a hint of what will happen once independence is an accomplished fact."

Senator Delgado took a somewhat different view and said that such things could happen anywhere when passions were aroused. Governor Murphy, at present on vacation at White Sulphur Springs, regretted the outbreak, but expressed the opinion that it will not get out of hand.

A disavowal that the Sakdalista Party was responsible for the uprising was made by Senator Tomas Epanola, representing himself to be the President of the Sakdalistas in the United States. He declared that the insurrection might result in "deliberate manipulation by the party in power in the hope of killing the Sakdalista Party."

John Wooliam, of Hooton, Cheshire, the 1933 winner, will meet Eric Fiddian of Stourbridge, the 1932 holder, in the final to-day at Hollinwell.

SOUTH CHINA SHOULD REPEAT BRILLIANT SUCCESSES OF 1932

EARLY DAYS OF LOCAL SOCCER ARE RECALLED

Mr. Goldenberg On China's Debut

"DYE" BLACK'S HELPING HAND

(By "REFEREE")

Some interesting reminiscences on local soccer were given me yesterday by Mr. C. A. Goldenberg, one of the oldest members of the Hong Kong Football Association, who in his day was a prominent member of the St. Joseph's junior eleven and later with the Hong Kong Football Club, with whom he played for several seasons until an unfortunate injury at hockey suddenly terminated his sporting career.

Mr. Goldenberg commenced soccer in the Boys' Own Club side in 1911. The team included several Chinese players and this is his earliest recollection of Chinese entry into soccer.

South China did not enter local soccer until the 1914-15 season, when they played in the Second Division with no small measure of success.

In those days the League was run by a Committee under Mr. A. Eager of the Naval Yard. The latter was one of the finest referees ever seen in the Colony and his handling of the game earned him the admiration of all soccer clubs.

Soccer, For Soccer's Sake
"In my opinion, the standard of football in the Colony was much higher in the old days when soccer was played for soccer's sake. Nowadays, one so frequently hears of fights which very rarely, if ever, occurred in the old days."

"From the spectators point of view, the soccer games were much better than to-day for some of the British men-o-war possessed teams in those days were in cases much stronger than the present combined Naval sides."

"An interesting point, and one which very few soccer players are aware of, was the origination of the Navy League side."

First Naval Side

"In the old days the Naval side was drawn from the Naval Yard, which was allowed to draw on the Submarine, Tamar, and Small Ships for members of the side; consequently, the strength of those teams was much stronger than the present day when the Navy side is perhaps drawn from 11 ships."

"The first Chinese teams to enter the local League were the Long Loong and Confucius Football Clubs, which later merged into one to become the self-styled Chinese Athletic Association."

"Leung Yuk-tong, who is at present in Hong Kong, was one of the original members of the first Athletic side, and in his day was considered one of the finest half-backs in China."

"Dye Black And Plymouth"

"Among others whom I met was 'Dye' Black, who came out for the Naval Yard and who was the finest full-back I have ever seen in local soccer. He played for several seasons at Home with Plymouth Argyle when they were in their prime, and, on coming to the Colony, played for the Club."

"A great supporter of the game, he had the greatest admiration for the Chinese, and it was he who gave the early South China players their first impressions of how the game should be played. Later he was to coach several of their teams which secured League honours."

COLONY LAWN BOWLS CHAMPIONSHIPS

1935 SERIES TO COMMENCE WEDNESDAY WEEK

The draw for the 1935 Lawn Bowls competitions was held last night with interesting results in many cases.

In the Open Singles Championship A. W. Grimmit, the holder, will meet A. M. Holland, the 1931 champion, while A. E. Silkstone, the K.C.C. skip will come up against the formidable R. F. Luz, another previous champion. On the other hand, U. M. Omar, F. Cullen, A. Hyde-Lay, and H. Nish, all of whom are likely to go far in this competition, should experience little difficulty in getting through to the Second Round.

KOWLOON DOCKS MAY SURPRISE CRAIGENGOWER

To-day's Lawn Bowls Encounters

INDIANS' DEBUT IN SENIOR LEAGUE

Following upon a very successful opening week, to-day's lawn bowls programme is likely to provide several surprises, and the outcome of the meeting between the Kowloon Docks and the Craigengower "A" combinations will be eagerly awaited.

The Indian Recreation Club, who make their debut in the First Division this afternoon, are not likely to cause any serious upset when they encounter the Bowling Green. The Indians displayed surprisingly good form during last season in the Second Division, and this afternoon, even though they may not win, they will gain valuable experience from older and more experienced opponents.

The Hong Kong Football Club did not have very much opposition in their encounter last week against the Electricians, who were sadly depleted owing to the Yacht Club Closing Cruise and the Volunteer Athletics, which robbed them of several of their potential players.

Footballers' Stiff Task
This week, however, the soccerites will be given a very stiff task against the K.C.C., who are expected to record their first win this season.

The following is "Skip's" forecast of to-day's games in the Senior and Junior Divisions:—

First Division
K.D.C.	v C.C.C. "A"
C.B.C.C.	v RECREIO
INDIAN R.C.	v K.B.G.C.
C.C.C. "B"	v POLICE
Second Division
C.C.C.	v TAIKOO
RECREIO	v C.B.C.C.
K.B.G.C.	v ELECTRIC
POLICE	v YACHT CLUB
K.C.C.	v H.K.F.C.

It is to be regretted that yet another year is to pass without the name of B. W. Bradbury, the Craigengower crack, appearing among the entrants for the Open Championship.

Pairs Threat

Grimmit and Jones, last year's winners, are together again in the Pairs. Their greatest obstacle will probably be Bradbury and Omar, but there several other couples who will require close watching.

The following is the draw for the Open Singles Championship giving the dates and grounds on which the matches will be played:

Wednesday—May 15

R. P. Phillips v G. E. F. Thompson (Recreio)

A. Macfarlane v A. F. Paul (Police Club)

LOCAL BASEBALL TO-MORROW

2ND CLASH TO-DAY IN KOTEWALL CUP ALL-CHINA FORWARD LINE TO ENCOUNTER NAVY WONG MET SHUN REINSTATED

(By "Rover")

AN opportunity to gauge the probable strength of China's forward line for the Berlin Olympic Games next year will be given at Caroline Hill this afternoon at 4.15, when South China meet the Royal Navy in the second game of the Kotewall Charity Cup series.

There have been various rumours circulating in town to the effect that Lee Wai-tong, who was selected for the inside-left position, will not be playing this afternoon, but it is hoped that he will once again be seen among that brilliant quintet of players, who proved all-conquering at the Manila Games last year. The inclusion of Wong Mei-shun in the intermediate line is welcomed on all sides his inclusion in the side will considerably strengthen the half-back line, and with Leung Wing-chiu and Lee Kwok-wai supporting him on the flanks, the Navy will find it a very difficult task to break through.

CLUB MEET EAST LANCS IN SENIOR LEAGUE TO-DAY

HOWE MAKES LAST APPEARANCE

SECOND DIVISION LEADERS CLASH WITH SOUTH CHINA

One interesting First Division League soccer game will take place this afternoon, when the Club meet the East Lanes, twice conquerors of the League champions, on the Club ground, while the Lincolns entertain South China in the Second Division on the Caroline Hill ground.

The Club have been making a vain fight for the runners-up position, but on Thursday threw away their chances when the Fusiliers held them to a draw.

Howe's Last Appearance

The Club will have the services of Albert Howe for the last time to-day, as he is shortly leaving the Colony on transfer to Shanghai.

To-morrow, three senior League games will feature the soccer programme, the Navy and Police supplying the tit-bit of the afternoon on the Kowloon ground.

The Second Division will also be featured by what will probably be an exciting clash when a much improved Kowloon team meets the Eastern at home.

Week-End Forecast

The following is Rover's forecast, giving the favoured team in capital letters:

To-day

Lee Tin-sang and Lau Mau are China's most reliable pair of backs to-day.—Northern reports confirm this when the periodicals report that so-and-so, although revealing excellent form, have not yet attained the perfection of the two Hong Kong backs, Lee Tin-sang and Lau Mau.

Wong Wing is the best Chinese custodian in the Colony at present, and can be relied on to play his part.

The South China attack is probably the best in the Colony and China to-day.

Tso Kwai-shing, on the right-wing, although possessing an unorthodox run, is one of the fastest wingers in South China, and a deadly shot when in position.

Tam's Part To-day

Tam Kong-pak, the hero of hundreds of thousands of Chinese and of many a notable Chinese soccer victory, is destined to play a large part in this afternoon's clash.

Fung King-cheong needs no introduction, and like Tam Kong-pak is a born footballer. What I like about Fung's play is that he invariably falls back with the halves and brings the ball up, an unusual thing for a leader to do, but, nevertheless, his tactic invariably works out to the good.

Another Inspiration?

Lee Wai-tong, at inside-left, will probably make a world of difference to the attack, although this time he will be playing among well-seasoned men and no novices.

True, he was an inspiration to the younger members of South China, "B" in the Senior Shield final, but he is unlikely to have such a great effect this afternoon.

If Pak-wa is the best left-winger we have ever seen in the Colony, and, together with Lee Wai-tong will be every bit as dangerous as the right-wing formation.

If the Chinese do not win by at least three clear goals I shall be very surprised.

Their Brilliant Record

Incidentally, should they win this trophy this afternoon, South China will have repeated their brilliant effort in the 1932-33 season, when they won the League Championship, the Senior Shield, and the Sunday Herald International Charity Cup Competition.

The Navy will have one of their best teams on view. Beard and Moss are a fine pair of backs, but whether they will be able to hold Tso and Ip is very doubtful. Both the Chinese wingers are very fast and tricky.

And are able to con- Gogano, one of the heroes of the match, is on the extreme from almost any team left with To Ho-hung and the Athletic. Bertie half-back on his right.—(Riley's First Division soccer

NEXT SATURDAY'S END OF SEASON SOCCER CLASHES

CHAMPION TEAMS TO MEET REST

LADY SOUTHERN TO PRESENT PRIZES

The final game of the 1934-35 football season will be played on Saturday next, when the champions of the First and Second Divisions meet teams chosen to represent the rest of the Association, on the Club ground.

Lady Southern, O.B.E., will present the trophies and replicas of the three divisions to the champion teams.

Not Full South China Team?

South China "A" First Division Champions, will endeavour to field their regular "A" team, but, if this is not possible, permission has been granted for them to field some of the "B" team players.

The Rest team will be a formidable one, and in fact, is stronger than the team which won the Governor's Cup recently. It will be strengthened by the inclusion of Athletic players.

Rodger A Certainty

For the Rest team Rodger will undoubtedly be trusted with the position in goal. His display against the Fusiliers recently will not be easily forgotten.

Pite, owing to his recent injuries, may be dropped from the full-back position, and the alternative choice is Mak Sui-hon, of the Athletic. The latter has played in all the representative games for the Chinese. A. V. Gosano is a certainty for the other full-back vacancy.

RUMJAHNS TRIUMPH

RECOVER AFTER DROPPING THE FIRST TWO SETS

HUNG'S SPLENDID DEBUT

"H. D." CARRIES PARTNERSHIP TO SPECTACULAR SUCCESS

(By "REFEREE")

Making his first appearance in a Colony tennis final, W. C. Hung, the young Chinese R.C. player and K.C.C. cricketer, gave one of the best displays of his career yesterday on the Stand Court at the H.K.C.C. but his many flashes of brilliance could not stop the Rumjahn cousins from securing their eleventh successive title win by scores of 4-6, 6-3, 6-0, 6-3, 6-4 in a brilliant encounter.

Hung's overhead shots were in splendid trim and his clever angle volleying often outpositioned the champions, who were given an even greater fright than Goldman and Fincher gave them last year. Hung exploited an accurate cross-court shot with marked success and varied his tactics with skilful lobbing. He faltered only once in a gruelling match, and that was in the third set, when the Rumjahns threw in all their reserves to snatch a love set.

Brilliant Network

Ho played his usual steady game with brilliant spasms at the net. On his day, there are few in the Colony who are in the same street as Ho overhead. Ho, however, lacks stamina, as he clearly revealed in both last year's and this year's semi-final singles matches, and the Rumjahns knew just when to concentrate on him.

"H.D." once again brought the championship pair through to a spectacular win. He was steadiness personified, and it was his accuracy at the net that caused the Chinese pair to falter during the critical moments in the final set.

Sirdar had an off day, though he showed flashes of championship form now and again. His service was again the cause of much anxiety.

Detailed Scores

Detailed scores by points of the match were as follows:

First Set: H. D. R. W. C. H. S. A. R. K. L. Ho

Second Set: 0-4 4-2 4-2 4-0

SPALDING
for Speed

The all-important factor in modern lawn tennis is speed and yet more speed. Other things being equal the man with that extra speed wins the match.

The new Spalding laminated multi-ply rackets are the fastest and most powerful ever produced. They can be strung to the highest possible tension without risk of warping, thus giving tremendous pace to the ball as it leaves the racket.

The Spalding range of rackets for 1935 comprises seventeen attractive models at prices to suit all purses.

Greatest Back in China

"There was one Chinese player for whom 'Dye' had the greatest admiration. I refer to the late and consequently rough play of Cheong Wing-hong. The latter was velpo and raises a holocaust during my time undoubtedly the finest full-back China has ever produced, and it was Black's been harped on so much that I will opinion that with a little coaching leave it at that."

Mr. Goldenberg refrained from commenting upon the "Colony" changes in the forthcoming list, much like A. V. Gosano, port against Shanghai, preferring in a class by himself. His kicking leave that until towards the end was faultless and above all he played the year.

Splashes
By
"Crawl"

WITH the swimming season almost on us and still little preparation being made by the various aquatic bodies in the Colony, swimming enthusiasts are wondering whether or not this year will be a repetition of last season with only the inter-port between Shanghai and the Colony to brighten up the outlook.

The announcement made by the European Y.M.C.A. at their annual general meeting last Tuesday must have caused a bombshell in Chinese swimming circles, for there was a rumour to the effect that efforts were being made to revive the H.K.I.A.S.A.—but there is little hope for these now that the "Y" has made such a recommendation. The announcement is certainly regretted in many circles, for, although the Association tended to irritate many individual and certain Clubs, it did more good than harm and certainly cemented the friendship between the Chinese and European swimming Clubs.

Navy in Sympathy With "Y"

I have heard that the Royal Navy, who are the second remaining party in the Association, advocated for its winding up some time ago and to-day are of much the same opinion as the Y.M.C.A. The Hong Kong University who are the one other remaining Club, possess some very keen swimmers and I am sure that they would regret the winding up of the Association.

That the Association has been sincere in its aim is fully borne out by one instance alone which in itself speaks for the Association—I refer to the preparation and the arrangements the officials of the Association made with reference to Kwok Chun-hang's visit to the Melbourne Centenary Championships.

The Association Work

The invitation, so my informant tells me, to Kwok Chun-hang from the Melbourne Centenary Committee came via the H.K.I.A.S.A. after the South China Athletic Association had resigned from the Association which also meant that Kwok was no longer connected with that body and therefore that the latter were in no way responsible for the invitation to him. But they made all the preparations, even to the extent of allowing him to practice in one of the Association's heated pools during the winter training months.

Although Kwok has earned world fame, it was through no fault of his own Association, South China, who did not even recognize this significant fact until after Kwok had captured the Melbourne Centenary Championship.

The Coming Interport

With Wilfred Lawrence at the top of his form last year, and the majority of V.R.C. sprinters in fine fettle, the interport against Shanghai, which is due to take place at the end of this season, will be well worth looking forward to. The V.R.C. are looking forward to Kwok Chun-hang's return from Australia, for he will be badly needed in the breast stroke event.

ed a faultlessly clean game."

Rough-Play Element

Mr. Goldenberg, who probably knows more about local soccer than any member of the present Association Council, said, "Soccer a few years ago was much better and cleaner than it is to-day. The fault lies in the fact that the players concentrate more on their opponent than on the ball, and consequently rough play developed. There is only one solution to this, and that is to have a referee in a class by himself. His kicking leave that until towards the end was faultless and above all he played the year."

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

Good Business Done in Shares

BUYING STILL FAVOURED ON ANY WEAKNESS

In their market report, Messrs. S. E. Levy and Company, correspondents for Messrs. White Weld and Company, New York state:—

Stocks.—The market action was impressive and we still favour buying on any weakness. Business done: 950,000 shares.

Grains.—Weather conditions were mostly favourable, while large wheat and rye deliveries caused further pressure. A technical recovery is probable soon. Total sales: Wheat, 24,074,000 bushels; Corn, 8,773,000 bushels.

Cotton.—Offerings were light with Traders awaiting an outline of the Government's cotton policy. Rubber.—Scattered sellers were finding few buyers. Total sales: 46 lots.

Flash.—The American Railway Association reports that carloadings during the past week totalled 559,000 cars, a decline of 51,000 cars from last week.

Notice To Clients

Our Night Service was resumed last night.

E. A. Pierce and Co's Report

In their market report, the American Oriental Finance Corporation, correspondents for Messrs. E. A. Pierce and Company of New York state:—

"Stocks: The market responded to reports of an improvement in the automobile labour situation.

"Cotton: Quiet conditions were witnessed to-day, while offerings were meeting with fair demand from the domestic trade.

"Rubber: The market was quiet and the volume of trading was small. Commission Houses were the principal buyers. There was no special interest and the market is expected to continue dull until Tuesday, as the London market will remain closed until then.

"Sugar: Prompt Puerto Rico sugars were sold at 3.28 cents per lb. There is no change in Philippine offerings or total quantities. Futures were heavy and the refined market remained unchanged.

"Grains: The range was narrow in both wheat and corn. Heavy deliveries of wheat and rye caused selling of May wheat late in the session. Rains were reported in the Central and West belts, but there is no moisture in the dry sections of the South-West. Reports that 2,000,000 bushels of corn were exported from the Argentine during the past week caused selling early in the day, but firmed up later in the session. Towards the close, corn was sold off when the wheat market eased.

Flashes: The American Railway Association estimates carloadings at 559,000 cars, a decline of 51,000 cars from the corresponding period of last year. The Annual Index of Business Activity for the week is given as 81.2, compared with 84.1 the previous week. Automobile output in the United States for the week totalled 110,970 units, compared with 110,235 units the previous week. Money in circulation shows an increase of $30,000,000.—Reuter.

War Plans

The publication of the confidential report made by Brigadier General Charles Kilbourne, Chief of the War Plans Division of the United States Department of War, to a committee of the Senate is certainly surprising. That is to say, the publication is surprising, not the plans themselves. It would be very innocent to suppose that even the most friendly Government, while signing a treaty of non-intervention and mutual protection, did not have quite a lot of information stowed away in the Headquarters of its Army and Navy that would help in case the civilians should change their minds and decide on an invasion. That is the business of a General Staff. Side by side with the civil department of Foreign Affairs, represented by Ambassadors and Envoys and Ministers Plenipotentiary, there is always the other department which is sternly realist in its methods. To the Staff it is facts that count, not policies; much less ideal. Calculations are based on a general principle that men provide themselves with tools in order to use them; that an increase of a hundred thousand men in an army, or the building of a new battleship, is not a mere waste of money, but a preparation of action; and that it is the business of the Staff to think out the best means of countering the additional military or naval strength conferred by the new recruits or armament. Then comes the recommendation to the civilian statesmen, who consider the matter in terms of what the Treasury can afford, or the probabilities of war. The co-operation of the two sets of men is by no means always complete; it would in fact be nearer the truth to say that it is never complete, but that the disagreement is sometimes much wider than at other times. In England during the years before the big war, agreement between the civilians and the Navy, under the inspiration of Admiral Fisher, was very much more constant with the Army. Lord Roberts was unable to put through his plans for a national army by means of a militia ballot or some similar scheme to reinforce the Territorial Army, and had to resign in order to advocate preparation on the platform. Much delay and confusion would have been avoided had he been successful; but the people were inclined to think that a general war was "unthinkable," just as the Canadians have always thought a war with the United States was "unthinkable." The worst of all these decisions is that the assertion that anything is unthinkable is a sure sign that somebody is thinking of them.

Nothing is more certain and more deplorable than the fact that the proposals for Disarmament, which would go to the root of the matter, have had a very unsettling effect, exactly contrary to the intentions of the advocates. Real peace can only be said to exist when men go about their daily business without thinking of war. The airplane has upset all the old calculations. One has only to begin to reckon how far reductions of armament can be made to realise that, in case they should be needed almost any degree of equipment would be inadequate. The result is that anxiety is started, and grows rapidly. A condition of anxiety is only a temporary condition of "non-war." It is a thousand pities that this talk of air bases should have disturbed the real peace that has reigned on the Canadian frontier since the American incursion during the war of 1812. The absence of a fort on those thousands of miles of frontier, or of a gunboat on the great Lakes has been something for the lover of peace to refer to with pride and encouragement. The condition of that state of things was really that it should be taken for granted. So soon as one party begins to think of bases for aggression, the other, as was shown by the request of the Canadian Legation, which naturally took the matter up, begins to think of defence.

The worst of "war-thought" is that when once begun it extends its range so quickly. It will be noted that the President's rebuke was directed against the unnecessary publication of war plans; there was no suggestion that they had not been under consideration. Against what enemy would it be necessary to seize Jamaica and the other English and French West Indian Islands? Venezuela? The fortifications, such as they are, are more suitable for a museum than for offense against, say, Florida. And why should anyone want to attack the domain of Senator Huey Long? One recalls that the Senate suggested that the West Indies should be taken over in payment or exchange for the War Debt. So far as the protection of the American coast is concerned it would be an advantage to have any occupation by a belligerent Power resisted by the English Navy, instead of having to throw all the work on the American fleet. Then one recalls the demand for naval equality, and the present vote of hundreds of millions of dollars, at a time of stress, for new ships. And so on. We are not suggesting that these dark suspicions of aggression are justified or reasonable. Our point is that they are more or less involved in the refusal to join up in the jurisdiction of the Hague Court, com-

"GOOD TREE-GOOD FRUIT"

Five hundred years ago an English poet wrote: "Like father, like son; every good tree maketh good fruit." How often is this true to-day?

There is the remarkable record of the Taylor family, the youngest of whom is now Member for Eastbourne.

Mr. Alfred George Taylor, of Sutton, has six sons. All of them have achieved success, four in business and two in medicine.

Another example is a Scots family, that of Sir George Touche, who will be 74 this year.

Sir George is a chartered accountant and chairman or director of 13 leading investment trusts, two railways and a colliery. For 10 years he was Conservative member for North Islington.

He has four sons.

ACCOUNTANTS AND LAWYERS

All four of them are directors of one or more of their father's companies. Two are chartered accountants and work in the family firm; two are practising barristers.

Norman George, the eldest, is a director of two trusts and a Chancery lawyer.

Donovan Meredith is a director of eight companies and a partner in his father's firm.

Gordon Cosmo is a parliamentary and criminal lawyer and M.P. for Reigate. Before winning his seat he fought Ashton-under-Lyne and his father's old constituency, North Islington.

The youngest brother, George Lawrence Capel, is a chartered accountant and a director of the Continental Union Trust Company.

CHINESE STUDENTS
IN AMERICA
TYPICAL OF BEST OF
CHINA'S YOUTHLEADERS IN THE VANGUARD OF PROGRESS

(By Arthur A. Young)

THE American campus is to-day host to the largest number of Chinese students since 1929. Not for several years have so many young men and women left their homes in China to study in American institutions of higher learning. China, if one is to judge by her new campus representatives, is looking ahead.

Coincident with this growth in Chinese student enrolment is a rebirth of Chinese student activities on the American campus. More than ever before, the Chinese student of today typifies the best that Chinese civilisation has to offer. He is, in nine cases out of ten, a leader. Perhaps known for his academic record, or his prowess in athletics, or for distinguished ancestry, he represents what educators have been seeking for a generation—the type of foreign student who can profit best by an exchange of culture with American students.

Recently, Chinese students from Yale, Harvard, Philadelphia, Cornell, Bryn Mawr, Chicago, gathered in New York to celebrate the twenty-fifth birthday of one of the pioneer student organisations on the American campus. Organised on the campus of Colgate University by C. T. Wang, a graduate of Yale who later became Chinese Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Chinese Students' Christian Association has been serving its fellow members for a quarter of a century. Its alumni and alumnae are active in all walks of Chinese life, many performing distinguished service in their native land in education, government, medical and social work.

Among the alumni who attended the dinner was Dr. W. F. Wei, a graduate of Amherst, who served as the association's fifth president. Dr. Wei is now the Chinese Purchasing Agent in the United States. Another was Robert T. K. Kah, now Consul General for China in Chicago. Mr. Kah served with Jimmy Yen, Dr. Herman C. E. Liu, and others, in the Chinese forces in France during the World War—recruits of the association. Two former members, Dr. Francis C. M. Wei, president of Hua Chang College, and President C. J. Lin of Fukien Christian University, are now lecturing in American cities.

For the past 25 years, Chinese students have been in the vanguard of Chinese progress. They have been unceasing in their work against the rigidity of the old order. It was while studying at Columbia that Dr. Hu Shi got the idea that later blossomed into the movement known as "The Chinese Renaissance," a movement made possible through modernising the Chinese written language. They were active in overthrowing the old Manchu dynasty. They led parades and demonstrations against what they felt to be Western imperialism. They denounced religious controversies.

"In the United States," said Mr. Charles D. Hurrey, general secretary of the Committee on Friendly Relations Among Foreign Students, "we have heard their protests for many years against unequal treaties, and discriminating immigration legislation by the United States and Canada. With unusual patience they have endured much misrepresentation of their country and people in America."

"With the vigorous efforts of these men and women, many Americans are in full sympathy. They recognise that Chinese students have thus been the means of bringing about important changes of attitude and modifications of policy on the part of individuals and organisations in America dealing with China."

Changed Type
The Chinese student of 1935 is quite a different person from the one of 1909. How can one distinguish him from other student ambassadors from abroad?

He is likely to be a graduate student specialising in such fields as political science or electrical engineering. He shows very little interest in Western philosophy and literature. He spends one to three years in the United States. He is about 26 years old.

His father is a business man, sometimes a professor, but seldom an editor. He is usually the first-born, if he is a son, reflecting the practice of providing the eldest son in China with the best possible education opportunity. If he is not a first-born, he is sure to hold a government or foundation scholarship. He comes from a small family, usually of three.

As a student, he is likely to rank among the best in his class. When he fails in his studies, which is rare, the cause is likely to be insufficient knowledge of English or poor health, not lack of academic ability.

Knows His Own Mind
Academically, he knows what he wants. He does not change his courses.

The University of Michigan student goes in for social life more than the Chinese students on many another campus. The Purdue student on the other hand is likely to scorn such activities as reading newspapers, listening to radio, going to movies or attending picnics. On the whole, the Chinese student spends more time in studies than American students; less time in theatre, social entertainments or concerts.

He consciously suppresses his social and emotional expression. This is largely due to his background and his loneliness in a strange country. In spite of his modern ways when in China, he is conservative about making social engagements with women students on the American campus. He is, however, learning to chum with American-born Chinese, as more and more of the latter are going to college. Towards Japan he is definitely opposed, but he bears no personal animosity against individual Japanese students.

for STAMP COLLECTORS

By A. E. L.

THE forthcoming Jubilee issues in the British Empire bring to mind the controversies which have taken place at various times on the question of the designs of the stamps of Great Britain, and the lack of clarity and Commemorative issues. It was in 1924 that the first commemorative stamps were issued by the British Government, on the occasion of the Wembley Exhibition; the same stamp again appeared the following year with an alteration in date. The popularity of this issue brought many letters to the Press and the Philatelic Publications on the desirability or otherwise of a change in the current postage stamp design, and also on the general question of commemorative issues.

The correspondence was most interesting, both sides putting forward sound arguments in support of their particular views. There appeared to be general agreement, however, that the lower valued stamps were capable of improved design, and the appearance of the special issue on the occasion of the ninth Congress of the Universal Postal Union resulted in an immediate outburst of adverse criticism of the design. There is much speculation, therefore, as how the design and style of the Jubilee issues will please the Philatelists.

FIRST day cancellations of special issues are very popular with some collectors, therefore, it will be interesting to hear the number of covers handled by the post offices next Monday.

In stamp-collecting circles the chief topic of conversation is the forthcoming sale in London of the unique 1 cent stamp of British Guiana (1856). It comes under the hammer for only the second time in the 61 years that its existence has been known to philatelists. The last time it was sold, equivalent in francs of £7,300, the highest price ever paid for a single stamp. It is interesting to compare this with the sum of 6s. paid to the original finder, a Georgetown (Demerara) schoolboy by a fellow collector about the year 1873, or even the £125 which is said to have been paid by the late Baron von Ferrari when it passed into his collection a short time afterwards.

The present owner is the widow of Mr. Arthur Hind, of Utica, N.Y., and it is the only item excluded from the sale of his vast philatelic collections, of which the bulk have now been dispersed in New York and London. Most philatelists are agreed that the 1 cent value expressed on this stamp is a printer's error for 4 cents, and this view is borne out by the fact that no other copy has since come to light in spite of every search. At present the world's rarest stamp is insured for £10,000, but it is not anticipated that it will reach that figure in the auction room.

I am able to show now an illustration of the German "Remembrance Day" stamps which I have mentioned in these columns last week. Two values were issued, the 5 pf., printed in dark green, and the 12 pf., in deep lake colour.

The new stamps which celebrate the twelfth anniversary of the founding of the Sanmarinese Fascist Party on August 10, 1922, are noteworthy in that they are the first San Marino stamps since 1927 that have not been printed by Bradbury Wilkinson.

The auction at Lamont Brothers on Tuesday was well attended. There was keen bidding, mainly for Great Britain and Hong Kong issues, although China was not much behind in popularity. I at first thought that the prices were rather low, but, remembering the 2/5 dollar, but to revise my opinion. The highest bid was for a Hong Kong 1862 Queen Victoria issue, the 90 cents brownish grey no wmk. mint, catalogued 95/-. It went for $11. A Hong Kong 1891 Jubilee issue two cents carmine, with the error of a short "V" cat. 42/6, was sold for $7.50.

In an overcrowded sampan. Recently Mr. Newbern made an evangelistic tour through the centre of Kwangsi Province, in the Red river valley, which is the home of the Chwang tribesmen, of which there are hundreds of thousands in Kwangsi Province. Some sections of the country where the Chwang tribesmen live are indescribably rough, but the people are able to eke out a meagre existence by utilizing every bit of fertile soil which can be found around the rocky boulders.

Mr. Newbern also made use of lantern slides to illustrate his talk. The lectures were given instead of the usual Bible Study Circle, conducted by the Rev. John Bechtel. The time was instead given over to Messrs. Desterhaft and Newbern, who are members of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, a mission which is doing extensive work in Kwangsi Province.

MISSIONARY WORK IN KWANGSI

Little Known Tribes In The Interior

REV. DESTERHAFT'S LECTURE

"Missionary Work Among the Tung Tribesmen" was the subject of a lecture given yesterday afternoon by the Rev. A. F. Desterhaft, a missionary who has been working among the Tung tribe for several years.

The Tung tribespeople are a primitive people who live in the mountainous regions of northern Kwangsi and southern Kweichow Provinces. They have practices and customs which are entirely different from those of the Chinese, and they have a language which has not been reduced to writing. One of the distinguishing characteristics of the Tung tribesmen is their manner of dress, particularly at festival times, when the womenfolk weigh themselves down with silver ornaments.

There is now a real spiritual awakening among the tribespeople, and wherever the missionary goes he meets with friendly tribesmen, who invite him to spend the night in the huts and hovels in which the tribespeople live. On these occasions friends and neighbours gather in, and around the campfire, the missionary tells the Gospel story. The Rev. Desterhaft illustrated his lecture by using lantern slides, which were the first pictures to be shown of the Tung tribesmen of Kwangsi Province. Mr. Desterhaft, together with his family, has been doing pioneer work among the Tung tribespeople, and drew from his rich store of knowledge in presenting the needs of the tribespeople of Kwangsi.

Missionary Work in Kwangsi. Following the lecture, the Rev. W. C. Newbern, who has been working at Nanning, the capital of Kwangsi Province, also delivered a lecture concerning missionary work in Kwangsi Province.

During two terms of service in Kwangsi, Mr. Newbern passed through many experiences. Once, while stationed in Posh, Kwangsi, Mr. Newbern and his family were detained by the communistic forces which had taken over the city. During this harrowing experience they fled for their lives and were forced to hide from the Reds, who later they were permitted to evacuate the city, but not until they had suffered at the hands of the communistic army.

A later experience was that of being shipwrecked on one of the worst rapids of the West River, Kwangsi. At this time the ship struck a rock and Mr. and Mrs. Newbern saved their lives by strapping a child on each of their backs and leaving the sinking boat.

GALA NIGHTS AT THE HOTELS

Impressive Decorations In Hong Kong

NEW SODA FOUNTAIN TO MARK JUBILEE

Dance enthusiasts will be interested to hear of the special arrangements concluded by the Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotels for the King's Jubilee on Monday.

Permission for an extension until two o'clock has been obtained, and, judging from the elaborate preparations, the evening will be an outstanding success. The exterior decorations of the Hong Kong Hotel will be particularly striking. The whole building will be illuminated in the national colours, while the two canopies in Pedder Street are to have immense banners bearing the Royal Arms and the inscription, "Royal Jubilee 1910 to 1935."

Although the management spared no efforts they were unable to secure the services of any artists, chiefly owing to the unfavourable rate of exchange. On the other hand, and for the same reason, there will be a substantial reduction in prices. As from Monday it was cost only $3 to attend the dinner dance, as contrasted with the previous price of $5.

Colourful Tables. The tables will present a colourful spectacle. Each one will be decorated with three vases of red, white and blue flowers, and the menu cards will be replicas of the two banners. The dinner, always a subject calling for the most careful planning, could almost be described as "royal." The Grill-room will be decorated with lights of myriad hues.

Similar arrangements have been made for the Peninsula and this is expected to be an equally popular rendezvous because of the excellent facilities for watching the display in the Harbour. There will be no dance at Repulse Bay on Monday night as the management believe it to be too far out of town to warrant special consideration. There will, however, be a tea-dance on Tuesday afternoon.

New Soda Fountain

On Monday the new "Moderne Soda Fountain De Luxe" will be officially opened. It is situated on the main floor and will be operated by the Dairy Farm Co.

Many will look forward to the Waltz Contest sponsored by the Hong Kong Hotel in connection with the Fox Film "Adorable" which will open in the Roof Garden on May 19.

angle and position. The Navy backs have been given the most difficult job today!

Bowers played a very good game against South China "B" on Sunday last, but he will be severely tested by Fung King-cheong and his inside forwards.

Navy's Strenuous Task

Hughes and Lancashire have been designated probably the most strenuous task of the day in keeping Tain Kong-pak and Lee Wal-long in check, and with considerable experience behind these Chinese players, the Navy halves chances look very slim.

The Navy forwards also exploit the short passing game, but, unlike the South China forwards, are fond of taking snap shots from all ranges and angles, which is a very good point in their favour, for Wong Wing is not too safe with the former variety.

The game should be very interesting with the odds favouring the Chinese.

The teams are:—
South China:—Wong Wing; Lau Mau, Lee Tin-sang; Leung Wing-chui; Wong Mee-shun, Lee Kwok-wai; Tso Kwai-shing, Tam Kong-pak; Fung King-cheong, Lee Wal-long and Ip Pak-wah.
Navy:—Cocker; Beard, Moss; Hughes, Bowers, Lancashire; Baxter, Cannell, Ross, Glavin and Wearmouth.

TREASURY BILLS ISSUE

London, To-day. The total amount applied for in tenders for $35,000,000 worth of Treasury bills was $38,555,000. The maximum amount was allotted in bills at three months. The average rate per cent was 10/1.01d., as compared with 10/1.85d. a week ago.—British Wireless Service.

To-day's Short Story.

The Will

By Andre Maurois

THE chateau of Chardeuil had been bought by a rich manufacturer forced by advancing age and ill-health to retire to country life, and in a short time the whole of Perigord could talk of nothing but the luxurious and tasteful restoration of this mansion, after a century of neglect by its noble owners.

During their eleven years of supremacy the Rumjahns cousins beat the following combinations in the Final:

Capt. C. H. D. O'Callaghan and G. R. Growler (1925), Major Pratt and Major W. B. Stevenson (1926), T. Honda and T. Akiyama (1927), H. R. B. Hancock and Dr. R. E. Tottenham (1928), J. S. Hung (1935).

H. D. Rumjahn paired with Omar Rumjahn to beat Ng Sze Kwong and C. Choa in the 1924 Final. In all he has won on twelve occasions in a competition that has run only 19 years! S. A. Rumjahn has performed the "double"—winning the singles and doubles crown in the same year—on four occasions, in 1927, 1932, 1933 and 1935.

Mr. R. E. Lindsell, President of the Lawn Tennis Association, umpired yesterday's Final.

NEXT SATURDAY'S END OF SEASON SOCCER CLASHES

Athletic Pivots' Chances

Kenaghan's only rival to the right-half berth is Robertson of the Club. There is not much to choose between the two. Chui Ah-fai is the best centre-half the Rest can find, but he may not come down from Canton for the game.

Parker is the obvious choice for the left-half position, but he too is on the injured list.

The only changes in the forward line will be Howe and A. Ward. Albert Howe leaves for Shanghai this week and in the last Governor's Cup game Ward was brought in because his type of play suited the centre-forward. Higgins would be the best leader, as his robust type of play is very effective against the Chinese. Cannell, of the Navy, would do well in Ward's place.

Lincoln's Good Record

In the first game the Lincoln, Second Division Champions, will be pitted against a team chosen from the junior clubs.

The Lincoln won the Second Division comfortably, losing only two games; but next Saturday they will be up against a team equal to or better than many First Division teams.

The gardens, it was said, were particularly wonderful. A landscape gardener from Paris had dammed the course of the Loue to make an artificial lake. He had turned Chardeuil into a second Versailles.

Fine gardens are few and far between in that rustic province, where most proprietors follow the example of the Savinlacs and turn their parks into kitchen-gardens. The flower-beds of Chardeuil aroused the utmost curiosity, as far as Brive and Perigueux, and almost as far as Bordeaux.

Nevertheless, after a whole year's work visitors were fewer than might have been expected. Perigord only welcomes newcomers with good credentials, and nobody knew who this Madame Bernin was.

She seemed to be barely thirty-five, while her husband was at least sixty-five. She was quite good-looking, and even in that remote spot she changed her clothes three times a day. That was not natural, and it was at first supposed by local society that she was no wife, but a mistress.

MONDAY'S STORY

Monday's story will be "The Last Trip," by Miles Henslow.

But Madame de La Guichardie was the sovereign lady of the district, and although she had lived in the country ever since the War, she nevertheless knew her Paris inside-out. So when she pronounced that Madame Bernin really was Madame Bernin, and came of a modest but respectable family, every chateau accepted this declaration.

Nobody would have ventured to gainsay that powerful lady on such a subject. But many families still professed the secret heresy, and believed that, even if Madame Bernin was quite entitled to her name, she was nevertheless only a mistress married in extremis.

Gaston and Valentine Romilly, who could see the towers of Chardeuil from the rising ground at Preysac, and so were the Bernins' nearest neighbours, considered that they, of all people, were the least entitled to take up a stern attitude, and as the Bernins had left cards at Preysac, and as their mother-in-law, Madame de La Guichardie, had given them full leave to be polite, they decided to return the compliment.

Their welcome was all the warmer for their being among the first conquests. Not only did the newcomers make them stay on until tea-time, but they invited the Romillys to go all over the house, and round the gardens and outbuildings as well.

Gaston and Valentine Romilly felt that the couple were beginning to suffer from the ownership of all this unshareable perfection. Nor were the Bernins unconvincing. Bernin himself had preserved, from his sovereignty in the workshops, a somewhat domineering manner, and a habit of expressing downright opinions about subjects of which he knew next to nothing; but he seemed sound at heart.

Valentine was touched by the fondness he showed towards his wife, a small, fair, plump woman, kind and cheerful. But while they were going over the first floor, and had duly admired the transformation of the house, astonishing in so short a time with its bathrooms let into the thickness of the old walls and its lifts into the towers, Valentine was taken aback when she heard Madame Bernin reply to her: "Yes, Adolphe made up his mind it should all be perfect. For the moment, of course, it is only a country place, but he knows that I expect to live here after his death—long may that be, of course!—and he wants me to be just as comfortable as in a town house. I dare say you know that he has several children by his first marriage? So he has made safeguards, and Chardeuil has been bought in my name. It is my property entirely."

In a meadow near the house the buildings of an old farm had been turned into stables. Gaston admitted the superb horses, the perfect condition of the stables, and the impeccable groomers.

"Horses are my chief joy," said

BANDITS IN HUNAN WIPED OUT

Regarding the remnant bandits in south Kwangsi, Lieut.-Gen. Mo said that after the adoption of the enveloping policy by the Kwangtung First Army Corps, the Red menace in that sector of Kwangsi has been eliminated. According to him, the group of bandits headed by Li Chung-pao, after suffering many defeats, by the Kwangtung units, have surrendered to the Hunan forces.—Central Press.

Madame Bernin enthusiastically. "My father served in the cavalry and put his children in the saddle straight out of the cradle!"

She stroked the gleaming hind-quarters, and went on with a sigh: "It is certainly going to be dreadfully expensive to keep all this cavalry. . . . But Adolphe thought of that: there is a provision in his will for a special fund, to allow for the improvement of blood horses in the park of Chardeuil. . . . That will be quite separate, Adolphe, will it not?"

The undertakings to assist refer only to aggression against either of the signatories on their own territory and it should be understood, come into play only within the limits contemplated in the three-party agreement previously projected between the Soviets, France and Germany, under which each of them would have been pledged to assist any of them subjected to aggression on the part of one of these three States.—Reuter.

The bidding: North East South West
1 S Pass 2 D Pass
2 S Pass 2 NT Pass
4 S Pass Pass Pass
The above bidding does not require any particular comment, except to mention that East quite correctly did not overcall with his weak heart suit, due to the vulnerability.

East's opening lead was the club Jack, and when the Dummy went down North could see the loss of his contract unless some discard trick in his own hand with the Ace, could be found for one of his losers. Of course, if the opening lead was away from the club King, North could automatically assure the contract by going up with the Queen in Dummy. He quite correctly decided, however, that on this bidding East would not risk an opening from a tenace holding such as the K J 10 and that therefore the club King was marked in the West hand.

Only one ray of hope appeared to Mr. Shankle. He saw the possibility that East had led from four clubs to the Jack-10-nine, and that West's King therefore would be guarded only twice. Playing for this chance, he took the first club trick in his own hand with the Ace, playing a low card from Dummy, and then led the trump King, which East won with the Ace.

At this point East helped along a bit by playing the club 10, hoping to force the play of the Queen in Dummy. However, the declarator played a low club from Dummy, and the Ten held the trick. East then shifted to a heart, which was won in Dummy with the Ace, and a small club was now led. Of course, West's King dropped, and North ruffed and then drew the remaining trumps. He then entered Dummy with the diamond Ace, and discarded one of his losers in the red suits on the now established club.

The hand is simple, but it is simple hands which very often cause the greatest trouble. In the actual carrying out of a plan of play, sometimes the play of a hand appears so easy as to be no problem at all, and the declarator awakens to the fact that it was a problem only when he finds he can no longer fulfil his contract.

The gardens were not yet completed, but the general lay-out of the beds could be seen. The points towards which the architect wished the eye to be drawn were marked by fine statues. Workmen were raising romantic pillars in the middle of an oblong basin, on an artificial island of concrete. The visitors were led down a long avenue of chestnuts which brought them out in front of a cluster of small houses, built in the style of Perigord farms, and roofed with old tiles.

"I didn't know of this village," said Valentine.

"It isn't a village!" said Madame Bernin with a laugh. "Those are the servants' quarters. It was Adolphe's idea to build them like that as separate houses. And you will see how ingenious it is from my point of view as regards the future: we have several couples in our service, most devoted, and I simply must keep them, even when I am left alone. Well, to each couple Adolphe is going to bequeath the house which they occupy, with a clause annulling the legacy if they should leave my service. So, you see, not only are they bound to me but they are partly paid without my having to spend a penny—it's a splendid safeguard for me. And that is separate, of course."

"But is that legal?" asked Gaston Romilly.

"Oh, you don't know Adolphe! He and his lawyer spent hours getting the draft right. You can't imagine how considerate he is, for all his gruff ways—aren't you, Adolphe?"

She slipped her arm under the old man's, and he grunted as he gave her a fond glance.

It was a long walk. The visitors were not spared the farm, nor the model dairy, nor the poultry farm with its rare breeds and the clucking of hundreds of miraculously white hens. But at the last the Romillys were alone in their car again, and Valentine asked: "Well? What do you think of them?" "I like Bernin," said Gaston. "He is surly, and too well pleased with himself, but he's a good sort. She is queer..." "Queer?" said Valentine. "I think she's terrifying. The 'Will' here, and the 'will' there. When I'm left alone, and long may that be of course. Really, it is painful, conversation like that in front of the poor man, about all that's going to happen when he dies."

They remained silent for a time while the car ran through the misty meadows between the poplars in the valleys. Gaston, as he drove, kept an eye on the road, which was dotted with children going home from school. At last he said: "All the same, you know... It's quite reasonable, taking all those precautions so that his wife can be perfectly at ease after he is gone. When I listened to her I was thinking about ourselves. I have been wrong in not making a will. I am going to see about that."

"What an idea, darling! Horrifying! In any case I am the one who is going to die first."

"Why? You don't know. You are younger than I am, and there's nothing wrong with you. On the other hand, I am—"

"Be quiet! You're just an imaginary invalid. You have excellent health, and in any case, if you did die, I shouldn't want to survive you. What would my life be without you? I'd kill myself."

"How can you talk such nonsense, Valentine? It's absurd! You know quite well that nobody dies of grief, however painful it may be. Besides, I'm not all you have in the world. There's Colette—your daughter."

"CHILD'S APPROACH TO GOD"

Lecture By Miss Wilson To-morrow

The Rev. Dorothy Wilson, M.A., B.Litt., author of "Child Psychology and Religious Education" will speak on "The Child's Approach to God" in the Cathedral Hall to-morrow at 8 p.m. All parents, teachers, and any interested in Young People's and Children's Work are cordially invited to attend. There will also be a Meeting for Students and young folks at the Y.M.C.A., Bonham Road, to-day at 7.30 p.m. at which Miss Wilson will speak.

ter, and her husband.... and your grandchildren....

"Colette has her own life now. She doesn't need us any more."

"Exactly. That's one reason why I ought to make provision for you."

Again they fell silent, as the car ran through a thicker bank of mist, and then Valentine went on: "It is quite true that if some ill-fate forced me to survive you by a few months, I should be easier in my mind if there were—oh, not a will—that would seem to me like an evil omen—no—just some document to make it plain that Preysac and the land there should in any case remain in my possession until my own death.... Our son-in-law is very nice, but he's a Savinac. He takes after his father.... He loves land. He would be quite capable of wanting to round off his own estates at my expense, and sending me to live in some small house, no matter what.... I should hate that...."

"That must be made impossible," said Gaston rather gloomily. "I'm quite ready to sign all the papers you want, and even to leave you Preysac by will. But would it be legal? I mean—let's the value of share?"

"A little. But that could easily be adjusted," said Valentine. "The solicitor told me that he would tell you how it could be worded, whenever you like."

"What!" he said. "Have you put the question to Maitre Passaga already?"

"Oh, just casually," said Valentine.

"THE GAY DIVORCEE"—STAR THEATRE

Following their success as co-stars in "Flying Down to Rio" Fred Astaire, the talented British dancer, and Ginger Rogers, Hong Kong's favourite actress, appear together again in the lavish musical "The Gay Divorcee" now showing at the Star Theatre.
Astaire again proves himself to be a welcome new screen type, a romantic light comedian with boundless charm, nonchalance and whimsicality. Miss Rogers is excellent, even amazing, in her dances with Astaire, in which she rivals the grace of this man who danced his way into the hearts of New Yorkers and Londoners.
They introduce a new dance, called "The Continental" that is seemingly more provocative than their former success, "The Cari-

"STINGAREE" MAJESTIC THEATRE

One of the most spectacular figures in early Australian history, Stingaree, is brought to life on the screen by Richard Dix in the film of that name which is now being shown at the Majestic Theatre.
Irene Dunne acts well, but it is not for her acting that one remembers her. It is for her beautiful singing of which we have heard too little in the past.
Dix is excellent as Stingaree, the bushranger, whose exploits are discussed throughout the continent, and supplies that touch of credulity which is so often missed by portrayals of similar roles. Truly a thoroughly well-thought out picture.

"ROYAL JUBILEE"

MR. BALDWIN'S LOYALTY

Meaning Of The Crown
To Britons

London, Yesterday.
Mr. Stanley Baldwin, presiding at the Primrose League demonstration yesterday, said that the position of the Crown and of the King in this country was not merely a matter of sentiment, important as that was. It was a matter of the most profound political interest and importance. If in any cataclysm the Crown vanished the Empire would vanish with it.
"As older Imperial ties become attenuated the tie of the Crown becomes stronger and more personal every year we live. We have evidence of that to-day in the tone and spirit and temper of the demonstrations and thanksgivings which are sent throughout the world from one end of the Empire to the other. So we may pray that the Crown, that great symbol of our race and of our unity throughout the world, may be perpetual with the constitution of our country. This is the link, which, once broken, can never be repaired. So long as that tradition to which we have been accustomed, and our fathers before us, last it will be blessed through this country and no power on earth can ever break it," he concluded.

CANTON AND PAN-AMERICAN AIR PROJECTS

MR. BIXBY SHOWS
OPTIMISM

ANTICIPATES NO TROUBLE
OVER FACILITIES

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, To-day.

Pan-American Airways have definitely decided to inaugurate a trans-Pacific air service, linking Canton with San Francisco, according to an interview with Mr. H. M. Bixby as reported yesterday morning by the Kuon Shing Po, a local vernacular paper.

Mr. Bixby is one of the six members of the American Economic Mission which arrived here on April 30 and left last Thursday by air for Shanghai. He is also an official of Pan-American Airways, which owns 40 per cent. of the China National Aviation Corporation.

The paper quoted Mr. Bixby as saying that the trans-Pacific service will be operated as far as Manila if the Chinese Government does not allow the planes to land at Canton, but that he saw no reason for denying such facilities. Mr. Bixby stated that the most hazardous and longest part of the trip is from the American coast to Honolulu, but that had been successfully tested in a recent round trip.

Mr. Bixby stated that Midway and Wake Islands are not inhabited and must be properly developed before they can be used for landing purposes.

SCHARNHORST'S FIRST TRIP

New German Lloyd
Liner Due East

Bremen, To-day.

The new North German Lloyd steamer Scharnhorst made its trial run yesterday and will sail from Bremen for the Far East next Wednesday.

It is the first of three vessels to be turned out at Bremen, the gross tonnage being 18,800. It carries 150 first class and hundreds of tourist class passengers, and 11,000 tons of cargo.

The opinion is expressed that the inauguration of the service may cause a freight-cutting war, and negotiations in that connection have taken place with Italian, British and Japanese shippers. — Reuter.

The Giants enjoyed a comfortable victory over the Cincinnati Reds, Melvin Ott and Joe Moore making circuit clouts, while the Dodgers noosed out the Pirates. — Reuter.

FILIPINOS URGED TO GIVE UP EFFORTS FOR INDEPENDENCE

MILITARY RANK FOR $5
A later message from Manila states that what is described as the most violent and widespread rising in the Philippines for years has broken out as the result of the opposition of the "Sakdalistas" (Radicals) against the proposed new constitution. Garbed mostly in khaki trousers and odd shirts, with red arm-bands, the rebel forces have filtered to the towns and, establishing a minor reign of terror, have invaded homes hampered traffic and cut communications, brandishing firearms and the sharp knives used for cutting sugarcane. Discipline is little evident. It is reported that the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel is being sold for five dollars.

DEATH ROLL NOW 60
The situation in the four provinces is described as most tense. The worst fighting occurred in Gabuyan, in the province of Laguna, when 47 rebels were killed and many wounded in a fight with constabulary at night. Altogether sixty persons are reported to have been killed.

The authorities now claim that the constabulary has gained the upper hand of the insurgents.

Some 8,000 United States troops quartered near Manila are ready to assist the constabulary if necessary, but officials consider that this contingency is not likely.

The Japanese Consul-General and Philippine officials scout the rumours that the insurgents are being aided by the Japanese. — Reuter.

The name of Mr. F. Grose has been added to the list of authorised architects, under the Public Health and Buildings Ordinance of 1903.
